

Servers & Storage

Knowing what kind of server is necessary for your business can be daunting, COLAMCO is here to help. Understanding business needs and determining the right server capacity needed to keep your business running efficiently is a task that COLAMCO is very familiar with and as your company expands and grows we can help you through to seamlessly upgrade at each stage of your companies' growth. Effective data storage is also a necessity in today's times with the increasing need for email archiving and files access. Companies need more storage options than ever before.

Customers will realize the following benefits:

Scalability - Providing server and storage solutions allows your company to scale effectively for future growth.

Flexibility - COLAMCO's relationships with multiple manufacturers provide you the ability to choose the right solution for your business, regardless of the brand.

Accessibility - Giving you the ability to archive information instead of having to delete, allowing you the ability to access in the future for reference.
